

Exercise 2.24

```
1  int i = 42; void p = &i; long lp = &i;
```

void is a special pointer type. It can point to any type of object. `lp` is a long integer pointer type, but `i` is an integer type. Type of `lp` and type of `i` do not match.